

DEATH COMES TO A CHINESE KAMAIAINA

C. K. Ayau, one of the best known Chinese citizens in Honolulu, died last evening at 6 o'clock at his residence after an illness of about a year. Death was due to chronic gastritis.

The deceased, who was fifty-four years of age, had lived in Honolulu for thirty-five years and was twenty-three years in the employ of the Pacific Hardware Company. He was a member of the United Chinese Society, was connected with various Chinese organizations and was a Roman Catholic.

The funeral services will be held from the residence at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon, the interment to be at the Catholic Cemetery, King street. The procession will leave Alaia lane at 4 o'clock.

The deceased leaves a widow and nine sons and daughters, and a host of friends will mourn his loss.

A brief business meeting will be held and there will also be a discussion of the coming opera, "Said Pasha," which is to be presented at the Opera House next month as a benefit for the Boat Club. The club members are taking great interest in the production of the opera and are doing their best to see that no seat is left unsold.
